FOURTH CONVICT RE-CAPTURED

JAMES WALTON ONLY ESCAPED PRISONER NOT APPREHENDED

William Young Taken At
Shadesville; Asks
For Death

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 21.—The dungeon in the state penitentiary today housed four of the five convicts who made a sensational escape from the prison Tuesday morning.

William H. Young, Marietta lifer, was captured at Shadesville, near here, last night, by Constable John Guy and Deputy Sheriff Frank V. Martin. James A. Walton, Cleveland, is the only one of the five who has eluded capture but the search for him was resumed with renewed intensity today.

Whipped into submission by the intense cold and on the verge of starvation, Young was found walking along a fence paralleling a field.

As the car carrying Guy and Martin approached, he started to run but the officers commanded him to halt and he stopped. He surrendered quietly.

Young had not eaten since Monday night. He wore only his prison uniform and two shirts. One of his feet was frost-bitten.

"Don't take me back," he pleaded. "Kill me. Shoot me in the temple."

Guy and Martin took the convict to the county jail where they fed him, then returned him to the penitentiary.

Young was the second prisoner captured by Guy. The constable captured Joe Russo, of Cleveland, near the Hartman dairy farm early yesterday.

Young admitted that he was with Russo when the latter entered the commissary of the Hartman dairy farm Tuesday night.

The two were discovered by John Evans, the storekeeper, who fired at them. Russo fled in one direction and Young in another.

Young said he broke into the store to obtain food and clothing. The others who have been captured are Pat McDermott, who assassinated Don R. Mellett, editor of the Canton News, and Mike Jacko, Cleveland.

Young said he was eating ice cream when Evans discovered them in the store. He said he jumped through a rear window and ran.

Young said he had been wandering around since the attempted robbery.

Meanwhile public attention was divided between the search for the remaining convict and a resolution introduced in the house of representatives asking a legislative investigation of the escape.

The bill was introduced by Representative James T. Anderson of Canton. It would authorize the house committee of benevolence and insurances to call upon Warden Thomas for "full information as to conditions that resulted in the escape of the prisoners."

The house may vote on Anderson's resolution today. If not, action probably will be taken early next week.

Warden Thomas said he would welcome an investigation.

C. A. Myers, head of the state bureau of criminal identification, was to go to New Philadelphia today to take finger prints of a man held there.

The man was arrested when found roaming the streets. He could not give a good account of himself. Pen officials discount the theory that he is the missing Walton.

Walton, they believe, was the brains of the escape plot and if any of the five had help waiting on the outside it was him.

Warden Thomas planned to continue his investigation of the break.

He is expected to decide soon what disposition will be made of the case of Guard Charles Shively, who had partial charge of the cell block from which the men fled.

When Guard J. B. Isaacs reported for work last night he was informed that he had been ordered suspended and that charges had been preferred against him before the state civil service commission.

Isaacs had partial charge of the same cell block. He reported to the night captain at 6 a. m. Tuesday that the count of prisoners in his charge was OK.

FINDLAY, Feb. 21.—The Rev. Roy M. Johnson pastor of the First Church of Christ here who was convicted of assaulting John Hart, a parishioner, was fined $100 by Judge William F. Duncan. ### DEATH CLAIMS MISS ANNA MAC CRACKEN; RETIRED EDUCATOR

Found Unconscious In Home By Neighbors
Wednesday

Found in an unconscious condition on the floor of her downstairs bedroom at her home, 255 N. King St., at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, Miss Anna M. MacCracken, retired educator, and the last immediate member of a distinguished Xenia family, died at the McClellan Hospital at 1:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

When neighbors became alarmed because the blinds on the home remained drawn all day, and because Miss MacCracken had not been seen since the previous evening, an entrance was forced into the house by Judge J. C. Marshall and J. S. Van Eaton. They found her lying in a nightgown, cold, and with her arms outstretched.

When neighbors became alarmed because the blinds on the home remained drawn all day, and because Miss MacCracken had not been seen since the previous evening, an entrance was forced into the house by Judge J. C. Marshall and J. S. Van Eaton. They found her lying in a nightgown, cold, and with her arms outstretched.

The burns were slight, and she had evidently been thrown away from the stove by the impact as she struck it in falling.

Drs. B. R. McClellan and R. R. McClellan were called and she was removed to the hospital. She died without regaining consciousness. Physicians believe that she suffered a cerebral hemorrhage, evidently having been stricken when she arose from bed during the night, probably feeling ill, and while attempting to reach an electric light switch which was located in the wall near the stove.

Miss MacCracken had been spending several weeks with Mrs. J. B. Knuth, returning to her own home about ten days ago. While active mentally she had been failing physically for several years, and it was because of her condition that neighbors became alarmed when there were no signs of activity about the house Wednesday.

Miss MacCracken was a woman of high intellectual attainments and member of a family which included a line of college presidents.

REPORT THOUSANDS STARVING TO DEATH

PEKING, CHINA, Feb. 21.—Thousands are starving in Shensi province, in the southwest interior, where hunger riots are general.

Ernest Oliver, famine relief investigator, reported here today. Many Chinese were attacking walled towns, seeking food.

Only enough food for the inhabitants was in the towns, Oliver said, and the townspeople resisted the attacks.

"The starving farmers have become desperate and are likely to break loose and loot all towns and cities which I visited to study conditions," Oliver said.

The American relief committee released $50,000 today for immediate relief.

OFFICIAL RESIGNS

CANTON, Feb. 21.—John M. Boyer, superintendent of the Stark County Workhouse here twelve years, resigned yesterday effective at once. Mrs. Margaret Boyer, matron, also resigned.

Commissioners named Ralph Benson, secretary of the Moose Club, as Boyer's successor.

LINDBERGH LEAVES COLUMBUS FOR INDIANAPOLIS ON FLIGHT

NORTON FIELD, COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 21.—Col. Chas. A. Lindbergh left here in his Curtiss Falcon biplane at 8:56 a. m. today for Indianapolis, the second stop in his inspection tour of Transcontinental Air Transport landing fields.

Lindbergh arrived here late yesterday from Curtiss Field, L. I. He spent the remainder of the day conferring with municipal airport officials, then was the dinner guest of State Rep. David S. Ingalls, of Cleveland, who introduced a state aviation code in the general assembly.

Mary Garden, the Chicago Olive Opera star, and State Rep. Earle Johnson, of Painesville, were also guests.

It was the first time Lindbergh had seen Miss Garden since his epochal flight to Paris. She was among the thousands who greeted him upon his arrival there.

Ingalls said Lindbergh reviewed his proposed aviation code and expressed approval of it, but the retiring young flyer had nothing to say to newspapermen.

Lindbergh was expected to arrive in Indianapolis in about two hours.

Captain Willis Floyd, upper right, is shown with the rope made from a mattress with which the convicts lowered themselves from the prison roof. Lower right are the four convicts who accompanied Pat McDermott, Mellett murder trigger man on the prison break.

UNREQUITED LOVE BLAMED FOR NEWARK MURDER AND SUICIDE

NEWARK, O., Feb. 21.—An unrequited love was believed by police today to have been responsible for the killing of Miss Eliza Campbell, 21, who was shot to death here last evening by Burt F. Johnson, 27, who, after a short police chase, killed himself.

The shooting occurred in front of the Knights of Pythias hall as Miss Campbell and Miss Norman Coffman, a friend, were walking from their place of employment.

Johnson, police said, drove up beside the curb and opened fire on Miss Campbell. As the girl fell with five bullet wounds in her body, Johnson stepped into his car and sped away, closely pursued by police.

As the officers began overtaking him, Johnson pulled in to the curb and shot himself in the head. He died a short time later.

Johnson was an automobile mechanic. He had been enamored of Miss Campbell but she had rebuffed his attentions, officers declared. The girl was from Hemlock, O., and was employed here as a bookkeeper.

DETROIT POLICE TAKE SUSPECT IN CHICAGO GANG MASSACRE

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—The first important arrest in the gangland massacre was announced by police today, one week after seven men were lined up in a garage and shot to death.

Police said they had been informed by Detroit police that George A. Lewis had been arrested and that a map of the district in which the garage is located was found in his possession.

The Detroit police said they had been informed he returned from Chicago a few days ago and told an associate he had "just bumped off a party."

Lewis was said to bear a striking resemblance to Philip Keywell whose photograph was described by a woman here as resembling a man who rented a room from her.

The house in which the room is located is near the garage.

Keywell, according to police, it is thought the men may have information of the murderers, police being inclined to believe the two acted as spies for the men who did the actual shooting.

Meantime, it was announced that Chicago citizens and business representatives will have an actual hand in the police drive to close out the liquor traffic and to rid the city of gangsters.

Business men and civic leaders held a conference with State Attorney John A. Swanson and it was decided that a committee of five men would be appointed to work with the police.

The business men were outspoken in their criticism of police. They pointed out that it is business which is primarily interested in removing the crime stain. Outsiders are afraid to come here because of the reputation of Chicago for crime as it is, the men told Swanson.

Deputy Commissioner John Stegerson returned from Florida yesterday and probably will take an active hand in the campaign today.

While the police members were driving toward a dryer Chicago, it was learned that Joe Salts, beer baron who was released from jail yesterday, had not left the city as he said he was going to do. Prohibition agents raided Salts' garage and found a quantity of beer. Salts and his chauffeur, Jake Shay, appeared, Salts with a gun in his hand and wanted to know what was going on.

Informing that the visitors were prohibition agents, Salts and Shay drove off, promising to return later. Shay returned with the key to the garage but the gang leader did not. Shay was held in jail.

Now police are looking for Salts again. He eluded arrest for nearly five months last year, finally surrendering.

Ingalls said Lindbergh reviewed his proposed aviation code and expressed approval of it, but the retiring young flyer had nothing to say to newspapermen.

Lindbergh was expected to arrive in Indianapolis in about two hours.

MAN FREEZES TO DEATH

HAMILTON, O., Feb. 21.—The body of John Quinlan, 73, retired farmer who had been missing for three days, was found here yesterday. The aged man had frozen to death and his body was covered with snow.

PROPOSED RAILWAY MERGERS FINALLY COME TO DECISION

Consolidations Now Before Interstate Commission

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Railway consolidation in eastern territory, a subject of controversy since 1920, was squarely before the interstate commerce commission today.

The tangled railway merger situation entered a new phase with filing by the Baltimore and Ohio and Van Sweringen interests of petitions to create two new giant eastern trunk line systems.

Approval of the applications would open the way to formation of two new systems each 1,500 miles in length and rivaling the Pennsylvania and New York Central, the two largest existing systems.

All eastern roads would be divided between the four trunk lines under the plans presented to the commission.

Filing of the petitions is an aftermath of conferences between eastern railway executives who in recent months have sought successfully to agree on allocation of all eastern roads on a four system basis.

In presenting their separate petitions, the Baltimore and Ohio and Van Sweringens advised the commission they have withdrawn from the conferences. Each petition was similar in asking the commission to order acquisition of the lines asked in the public interest, leaving terms and conditions to be worked out later.

Authority to acquire outright control of ten roads and part interest in five others was asked in the Baltimore and Ohio petition. The Van Sweringen petition suggested grouping of the Chesapeake and Ohio, in whose name it was filed, with the other Van Sweringen roads, the Erie, Hocking Valley, Pere Marquette and Nickel Plate; with the Wheeling and Lake Erie, in which they have an interest, and with five other roads which they do not control. The system thus created would have a capitalization of $2,500,000.

CRUSHED TO DEATH
STUBENVILLE, O., Feb. 21.—B. G. Norman, 44, miner employed at the No. 9 mine of the U. S. Coal Co., at Bradley, near here, was killed in a fall of slate. His back was broken.

FOUR CONVICTS ARE FREE AFTER ESCAPE FROM COUNTY JAIL

Two Are Re-Captured;
Others Steal Autos
To Flee Officers

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Feb. 21.—While state police guarded toll bridges and posses in motor cars patrolled the highways four of the six fugitives who escaped from the county jail at Charleston yesterday, continued to evade capture today.

The four are heavily armed and have resorted to every possible device to escape their pursuers. They were last seen in West Huntington during the night but early today were reported to have fled towards Kenova.

The fugitives are Adrian and Dana Bias, brothers, and Julian Liebel, wanted in Charleston for an interurban robbery, and W. R. Proctor, wanted in Raleigh, N. C., for automobile theft.

While the manhunt was under way, Virgil Kemplin and Gerald Flemmer who also escaped, were being captured. Kemplin was taken at East Bank and Flemmer was found secreted in a house in Charleston.

The manhunt—one of the most spectacular ever witnessed in this section—began when the six prisoners attacked a guard, broke out of the jail, commandeered an automobile and fled towards Gallipolis, Ohio.

The four children were burned to death in the frame house. The fifth, Sadie, died today in a hospital.

The dead are: Herbert, 14; Sadie, 12; Gerben, 8; Edward, 6; and Anna, 4.

THIRTEEN CHILDREN AMONG VICTIMS AND TWO MOTHERS DEAD

Victims Trapped In Residences In Three House
Fires; Mother, Safe, Rushes Back Into Flames And Dies.

ALTOONA, Pa., Feb. 21.—A mother and five children were burned to death when their home at Carrollton was destroyed by fire today.

The dead were: Mrs. Leo Mangold; Paul, 6; Mary Frances, 4; Mary Grace, Regis, 2; Bobby, eight-months.

The husband and father, Leo Mangold, and a neighbor, Harry Detrow, both burned, had gotten Mrs. Mangold safely out of the building but she broke away from them and rushed back into the house to rescue the children, and was burned to death.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 21.—Mrs. Zenas Berkey and three children were burned to death in their home, a two room cabin at Millsboro, last night, it was learned today. Berkey suffered burns and was prostrated.

Berkey, a farmer, had baked with a child in their arms. Ooms is a mechanic and works in a brickyard here. He recovered consciousness at a hospital and told how he and his wife, Katherine, fought to save the children.

His wife had been cooking in the kitchen, Ooms said and he got up to lift a skillet of grease from the stove. The grease spilled and caught fire, he said, the flames catching to a curtain.

He and Mrs. Ooms stumbled around the blazing room trying to find the children. They picked up Sadie, 12, and Sarah 10, but were unable to locate the door, smoke and flames barring their way.

Finally they fought their way along the wall, still holding to the children and managed to get out. They fell in the snow, Mrs. Ooms fainting.

Ooms tried to fight his way back into the house and rescue the other children, but the little one-room place was nearly gone and it was impossible for him to re-enter. He was burned again trying to get in and was rendered unconscious.

FOURTH CONVICT RE-CAPTURED

JAMES WALTON ONLY ESCAPED PRISONER NOT APPREHENDED

William Young Taken At
Shadesville; Asks
For Death

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 21.—The dungeon in the state penitentiary today housed four of the five convicts who made a sensational escape from the prison Tuesday morning.

William H. Young, Marietta, Ohio, was captured at Shadesville, near here, last night, by Constable John Guy and Deputy Sheriff Frank V. Martin.

James A. Walton, Cleveland, is the only one of the five who has eluded capture but the search for him was resumed with renewed intensity today.

Whipped into submission by the intense cold and on the verge of starvation, Young was found walking along a fence paralleling a field.

As the car carrying Guy and Martin approached, he started to run but the officers commanded him to halt and he stopped. He surrendered quietly.

Young had not eaten since Monday night. He wore only his prison uniform and two shirts. One of his feet was frost-bitten.

"Don't take me back," he pleaded. "Kill me. Shoot me in the temple."

Guy and Martin took the convict to the county jail where they fed him, then returned him to the penitentiary.

Young was the second prisoner captured by Guy. The constable captured Joe Russo, of Cleveland, near the Hartman dairy farm early yesterday.

Young admitted that he was with Russo when the latter entered the commissary on the Hartman dairy farm Tuesday night.

The two were discovered by John Evans, the storekeeper, who fired at them. Russo fled in one direction and Young in another.

Young said they broke into the store to obtain food and clothing.

The others who have been captured are Pat McDermott, editor of the Canton News, and Mike Jacko, Cleveland.

Young said he was eating ice cream when Evans discovered them in the store. He said he jumped through a rear window and ran.

Young said he had been wandering around since the attempted robbery.

Meanwhile public attention was divided between the search for the remaining convict and a resolution introduced in the house of representatives asking a legislative investigation of the escape.

The bill was introduced by Representative James T. Anderson of Canton. It would authorize the committee of benevolence and penal institutions to call upon Warden Thomas for "full information as to conditions that resulted in the escape of the prisoners."

The house may vote on Anderson's resolution today. If not, action probably will be taken early next week.

Warden Thomas said he would welcome an investigation.

C. A. Myers, head of the state bureau of criminal identification, today to take finger prints of a man held there.

The man was arrested when found roaming the streets. He could not give a good account of himself. Pen officials discount the theory that he is the missing Walton.

Walton, they believe, was the brains of the escape plot and if any of the five had help waiting on the outside it was him.

Warden Thomas planned to continue his investigation of the break.

He is expected to decide soon what disposition will be made of the case of Guard Charles Shively, who had partial charge of the cell block from which the men fled.

When Guard J. B. Isaacs reported for work last night he was informed that he had been ordered suspended and that charges had been preferred against him before the state civil service commission.

Isaacs had partial charge of the same cell block. He reported to the night captain at 6 a. m. Tuesday that the count of prisoners in his charge was OK.

Found Unconscious In

Wednesday

Found in an unconscious condition on the floor of her downstairs bedroom at her home, 255 N. King St., at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, Miss Anna M. MacCracken, retired educator, and the last immediate member of a distinguished Xenia family, died at the McCallan Hospital at 1:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

When neighbors became alarmed because the blinds on the home remained drawn all day, and because Miss MacCracken had not been seen since the previous evening, an entrance was forced into the house by Judge J. C. Marshall and J. S. Van Eaton. They found her lying stricken in night clothing not far from a lighted gas heating stove, with burns about the legs and left arm indicating that she had fallen against the stove.

The burns were slight, and she had evidently been thrown away from the stove by the impact as she struck it in falling.

Drs. B. R. McClellan and R. R. McClellan were called and she was removed to the hospital. She died without regaining consciousness.

Physicians believe that she suffered a cerebral hemorrhage, evidently having been stricken when she arose from bed during the night, probably feeling ill, and while attempting to reach an electric light switch which was located in the wall near the stove.

Miss MacCracken had been spending several weeks with Mrs. J. B. Carruthers, returning to her own home about ten days ago.

While active mentally she had been failing physically for several years, and it was because of her condition that neighbors became alarmed when there were no signs of activity about the house Wednesday.

FOUR CONVICTS ARE FREE AFTER ESCAPE FROM COUNTY JAIL

Two Are Re-Captured;
Others Steal Autos
To Flee Officers

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Feb. 21.—While state police guarded toll bridges and posses in motor cars patrolled the highways four of the six fugitives who escaped from the county jail at Charleston yesterday, continued to evade capture today.

The four are heavily armed and have resorted to every possible device to escape their pursuers. They were last seen in West Huntington during the night but early today were reported to have fled towards Kenova.

The fugitives are Adrian and Dana Blas, brothers, and Julian Liebel, wanted in Charleston for an interurban robbery, and W. R. Proctor, wanted in Raleigh, N. C., for automobile theft.

While the manhunt was underway, Virgil Kemplin and Gerald Flemmer who also escaped, were being captured. Kemplin was taken on at East Bank and Flemmer was found secreted in a house in Charleston.

The manhunt—one of the most spectacular ever witnessed in this section—began when the six prisoners attacked a guard, broke out of the jail, commandeered an automobile and fled towards Gallipolis, Ohio.

Authorities of West Virginia, Kentucky and Ohio were called in to the chase which developed into a pursuit crammed to the brim with thrills and drama.

The Blas brothers and Proctor were to have gone on trial in Charleston today. Police there were holding Adrian Blas' girl wife, Lilian, who is suspected of aiding in the jail delivery. Another woman also was held for questioning.

Charleston officers said they found a woman's footprints in the snow behind the jail and they believe one of the women fastened saws, automatics and a flashlight to the end of a blanket rope which was then pulled up into the prison.

Mrs. Blas, a striking brunette and a niece of Irvin Morrison, a former member of the Cabell County court, married young Blas six weeks ago while police were searching for him.

Search for the fleeing man shifted to Huntington after the desperadoes eluded Gallipolis police, abandoned their fast car, commandeered another and wrecked it near Athens, O., then seized a third machine and kidnapped the driver.

George Thomas, 29, of Clay Court House, W. Va., now in jail at Huntington, said he was forced to drive the man from Charleston to a point below Gallipolis. The gang went to Ripley, W. Va., thence to Mason City, crossed the Ohio River into Pomeroy, then recrossed the river into Huntington.

When Thomas' machine broke down the fugitives seized a car driven by O. H. Deaton of Huntington. Four companions with Deaton were forced to flee into a nearby woods and Deaton, jammed in to the rear seat, was taken along.

Deaton's car was wrecked and the escapers held up W. G. Wilks, divisional sales superintendent of the Maytag-Washing Machine company, at Millers, O. As the fugitives crossed the toll bridge in Huntington they menaced Deaton and Wilks with guns.

The men next stopped in a suburb and bought a clothes line, then drove into a park where Wilks and Deaton were gagged and bound to a tree.

As the fugitives sped away, Wilks managed to work around the tree until he could obtain a knife in Deaton's pocket. Tediiously he sawed at the ropes and released himself and Deaton.

Meantime the men had sought medical aid for one of their number who was injured when the second automobile was wrecked. The desperadoes apparently drove about in Huntington until darkness settled down, then are believed to have headed towards Kenova.

Three other measures were passed by the house and one defeated at yesterday's session. Those approved included the bill by Rep. Joseph C. Dinsmore, Cincinnati, requiring that all wage assignments must be in writing and that those by married persons shall be signed by both husband and wife.

The other bills approved included one by Rep. Frank A. Poling, Van Wert, making it a misdemeanor or punishable by $25 fine to drive through a funeral procession; one by Rep. J. D. Ewing, Knox County, to give cemetery trustees in municipalities the right to invest funds in approved securities; and one by Rep. Dinsmore, to authorize township trustees to levy a tax for the care of cemeteries.

A bill by Rep. George M. Forney, Hancock County to relieve railroads the necessity of building cattle-guard rails at grade crossings was defeated in the house, when the rural bloc voted almost solidly against it.

The accident occurred on a Dixie Highway crossing where twelve persons have been killed.

THIRTEEN CHILDREN AMONG VICTIMS AND TWO MOTHERS DEAD

Victims Trapped In Residences In Three House
Fires; Mother, Safe, Rushes Back Into Flames And Dies.

ALTONA, Pa., Feb. 21.—A mother and five children were burned to death when their home at Carrollton was destroyed by fire today.

The dead were: Mrs. Leo Mangold; Paul, 6; Mary Frances, 4; Mary Grace, Regis, 2; Bobby, eight-months.

The husband and father, Leo Mangold, and a neighbor, Harry Detrow, both burned, had gotten Mrs. Mangold safely out of the building but she broke away from them and rushed back into the house to rescue the children, and was burned to death.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 21.—Mrs. Zenas Berkey and three children were burned to death in their home, a two room cabin at Millsboro, last night, it was learned today. Berkey suffered burns and was prostrated.

Berkey, a farmer, had banked the fire in the kitchen stove and helped put two children, Merwin, 4, and Merina, 3, to bed.

Mrs. Berkey, 27, was nursing her six weeks old babe, Melroy, when she smelled smoke and awakened her husband, then dozing in a chair. Opening the door between the kitchen and bedroom, Berkey found the room a mass of flames, and rushed, panic stricken, through the blaze to the outdoors, being severely burned.

He and Mrs. Ooms stumbled around the blazing room trying to find the children. They picked up Sadie, 12, and Sarah 10, but were unable to locate the door, smoke and flames barring their way.

Finally they fought their way along the wall, still holding to the children and managed to get out. They fell in the snow, Mrs. Ooms fainting.

Ooms tried to fight his way back into the house and rescue the other children, but the little one-room place was nearly gone and it was impossible for him to re-enter. He was burned again trying to get in and was rendered unconscious.

The parents were found lying in the snow behind their home, each with a child in their arms.

Ooms is a mechanic and works in a brickyard here. He recovered consciousness at a hospital and told how he and his wife, Katherine, fought to save the children.

His wife had been cooking in the kitchen, Ooms said and he got up to lift a skillet of grease from the stove. The grease spilled and caught fire, he said, the flames catching to a curtain.

Four of the children were burned to death in the frame house. The fifth, Sadie, died today in a hospital.

The dead are: Herbert, 14; Sadie, 12; Gerben, 6; Edward, 6, and Anna, 4.

STATE POLICE BILL
PASSES IN SENATE;
BEFORE HOUSE NEXT

House Considers Habitual Criminal
Measure

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 21.—The Carpenter bill to repeal the Pence utility rate law, the Nickels bill to require automobile drivers to have licenses, and the Cramer "habitual criminal" bill were all on the legislative calendar for passage today.

The Carpenter and Nickels bills come from the senate and habitual criminal measure is slated for passage by the house. The lower chamber may also, by a suspension of the rules, act on a resolution calling for a legislative investigation of escapes from the state penitentiary.

The senate late yesterday passed the Ackerman bill for a "state highway police," after a prolonged oratorical battle in which the measure was denounced by its opponents as a bill that would cost the taxpayers tremendous sums and accomplish little toward preventing crime. The bill still has to come before the house.

The habitual criminal bill also was on the house calendar and was brought up for consideration. After an amendment had been proposed and adopted to remedy a defect in the bill, its author, Rep. Virgil E. Cramer, Toledo, asked that further action be postponed until today.

The measure provides life imprisonment for a fourth conviction on violating a felony law, and was sponsored by the Ohio State Bar Association. The amendment adopted by the house, presented by Rep. Charles A. Jones, Jackson County, provides the method of procedure to be followed in proving the defendant has previously been convicted of three offenses.

Three other measures were passed by the house and one defeated at yesterday's session. Those approved included the bill by Rep. Joseph C. Dinsmore, Cincinnati, requiring that all wage assignments must be in writing and that those by married persons shall be signed by both husband and wife.

The other bills approved included one by Rep. Frank A. Poling, Van Wert, making it a misdemeanor or punishable by $25 fine to drive through a funeral procession; one by Rep. J. D. Dinsmore, to authorize township trustees to levy a tax for the care of cemeteries.

What Will you do

When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria! At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And, any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhea checked. A vegetable product; a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however; harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use; in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that baby becomes fretful, or restless, Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

NEED FOR FOREIGN MISSIONARIES IS STRESSED IN TALK

The foreign missionary field needs twelve hundred medical missionaries, teachers and evangelists—the church has the money to send them—but the church is unable to find the twelve hundred young people with the training and equipment for the foreign work. The student volunteer movement this year showed only one tenth of the number of volunteers in 1928.

These facts were set forth by the Rev. V. E. Busler, Eaton, in a sermon at Trinity M. E. Church Wednesday evening on the theme, "Our Need—Consecrated Personality." "What is the matter with your young people?" the Rev. Mr. Busler asked. "Nothing is the matter with the young people," he stated, "the trouble is with the people over forty years of age who have failed to give them the needed training and the example of godliness."

He deplored the lack of Christian training in the home, giving it as the reason why so few young people feel spiritually equipped for the service in the foreign fields. The young people must be taught to measure life in terms of service rather than in terms of dollars if the church is to be able to carry on its mission.

The Rev. Mr. Busler said that the three great missionary enterprises in the world today are Mohammedanism, communism and Christianity and of the three communism is just now the most aggressive. The Christian church must meet this condition. Communism orders its followers to all parts of the world and they are compelled to go. It is carrying on its work in every city and town throughout the country and spreading its propaganda throughout the world. Never before has there been so much need for consecrated personality on the part of the Christian church, he said.

The Rev. J. H. Denney, of Dayton, will fill the pulpit Thursday evening, Friday evening will be observed as "family night" and the service will be preceded by an informal social hour for the young people. The sermon will be given by the Rev. Mr. Denney.

Yellow Springs, Osborn and Fairfield are affected by an order of the Public Utilities Commission, on its own motion, Wednesday, suspending increased gas rates for a number of villages in Ohio served by the Western Ohio Public Service Co.

PLAN SPECIALTY NUMBERS FOR SHOW

Roger Chambliss has been added to the cast of characters for the three-act comedy, "See You Later," to be presented by local amateur talent at City Hall Theater Monday night at 8:15 o'clock under auspices of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Between acts of the production the audience will be entertained by specialty numbers by Miss Mildred Mason, Elwood Smith, Bob Owens, and a quartet composed of members of Joseph P. Foody Post, No. 95, American Legion.

The ticket sale for the show is exceeding expectations in view of the fact the performance will be given only one night, instead of two, as originally planned, because of conflict with the date of the Xenia-Stivers basketball game at Dayton.

Rehearsals are being held every night this week under the direction of Miss Quinzel Jones, of the Triangle Producing Co.

HOW TO FIGHT EXCESS FAT

There are hard ways, like starvation, but fewer and fewer employ them. There is a pleasant way, modern and scientific, which combats the cause. A vast number of people now use it. And the slender figures now seen everywhere are largely due to that.

That method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. And everybody, in almost every circle, sees the change. New beauty, new health, new vitality.

Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the scientific reasons for results. So users have no fear of harm. Learn the facts about Marmola, because of the good it has done. Ask your druggist—now—for a $1 box with the book. Then decide.

PLAN SPECIALTY NUMBERS FOR SHOW

Roger Chambliss has been added to the cast of characters for the three-act comedy, "See You Later," to be presented by local amateur talent at City Hall Theater Monday night at 8:15 o'clock under auspices of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Between acts of the production the audience will be entertained by specialty numbers by Miss Mildred Mason, Elwood Smith, Bob Owens, and a quartet composed of members of Joseph P. Foody Post, No. 95, American Legion.

The ticket sale for the show is exceeding expectations in view of the fact the performance will be given only one night, instead of two, as originally planned, because of conflict with the date of the Xenia-Stivers basketball game at Dayton.

Rehearsals are being held every night this week under the direction of Miss Quincel Jones, of the Triangle Producing Co.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

WHO IS TO BLAME?

The last wholesale murder by gangsters in Chicago is startling even to the people of the United States, made callous by long familiarity with, and tolerance of bandit feuds and professional assassination rings. But nobody ought to be surprised by what has occurred. Conditions in Chicago and in the country generally have been working toward something of the sort for a long time. The killing on North Clark street was merely a little more atrocious, a little bolder, a little more brazen than scores and hundreds that have preceded it. And unless corrective measures of a character and thoroughness not attempted up to this time are adopted, and adopted thoroughly and in earnest, there are going to be more outrages of the same general character before there are fewer.

Chief of Police Russell of Chicago in the moment of first reaction declared hotly, "This is the end of gangland in Chicago. It is a war to the death now and no quarter asked or given by the police. Every policeman in Chicago will get his orders. We are going to start the greatest fight against crime this or any other city ever has seen."

That is all right, as far as it goes, if Chief Russell really means what he says, and has sense and judgment sufficient to engineer a fight against the bandits and thugs, which will be something more than a haphazard, guerilla campaign, and will produce results where results are really needed.

It is generally admitted that the latest Chicago assassinations were the result of a hijacking feud. Before we can have any real solution of the crime problem in America, some millions of presumably respectable people must stop drinking bootleg liquor. The professional criminal class of the United States is founded on and maintained by the contraband booze traffic. If that traffic should prove unprofitable, the worst single problem before the police unquestionably would evaporate. But as long as it remains a "big business," in which the demand for goods normally exceeds the supply, it is ironical to talk about "controlling" crime. The most the authorities can do is to wage an uphill fight.

FIXING STANDARDS

Standardization of agriculture products, a development of very recent years, is doing much to aid in the profitable marketing of the farmer's goods.

The Department of Agriculture has established a comprehensive set of standards and grades which cover almost every farm product. Not only is this practical in local and national trade, but in international commerce as well.

The farmer, as a result, is benefited by an increased demand for graded products, and by the fact that grading determines which goods are to be stored for future sale and which immediately marketed.

A clerk in Rumania was fined $2 for slapping a prince. One can't slap even a policeman in this country for that price.

Charles G. Dawes put over the debt settlement plan that bears his name, but he wasn't able to reform the senate rules.

After all, how can it be expected that a short session will accomplish much with lame ducks hobbling all the place?

Your BROADWAY And Mine

NEW YORK. — William A. Greer's new comedy, "My Girl Friday," deals with chorus girls and angels who rush in where even fools fear to tread. Mr. Greer also reveals (besides directing, authoring and acting in it) how business men get tired, and moralizes that all choruses are not to be pitied nor censured, as someone once remarked. The first audience, one suspected, was recruited from Mr. Leblanc's, and it appeared quite satisfied after the first episode, responding with robust laughter at intervals.

The comedy, however, is crude and shoddy entertainment, prepared with little skill. The female division was most agreeable, both in the orb and ear, and a little wonder, for the chorus girls types were selected from the better ones, and with little effort they contributed artful performances.

A FORM OF CRITICISM. They say that when Captain Fried attended the premiere of a new show recently he quipped: "God help us sailors on a first night like this!"

SOME FUN, HUH? After having had a touch of the bright lights, they are in no particular hurry to get back to Venice. In fact, they are endeavoring to become acclimated to our ways, but it is difficult. To acquaint them more quickly with Broadway, they were recently told to read Master Winchell's column. After puzzling over a copy of it for some time, they said: "But this isn't English, is it? This man writes in Pig Latin!"—From the N. Y. Sunday Times.

Well, I'll be amnedy! An actress of little ability was burned up and knocked cold because a dramatic critic wrote of her that she had no sex appeal. "I haven't?" she telegraphed him. "Well, come on some time and I'll prove that I have."

"No, thanks," replied the playwright. "I have given up sex and gone in for dramatic criticism."

KEEPING BOOKS

Few men or women have a definite gift for figures, for financial accounts, for keeping books. Anyone can learn something about operating his own financial affairs competently. There is a satisfaction to be found in knowing where your income goes and why. It is worth while to keep books at least to the extent that you can determine whether you are actually spending more money than you take in. Many do that very thing. The writer knew of a man who was making sixty dollars a week and had signed agreements to buy so many things on the installment plan that he required seventy-two dollars a week for the outlay. A little simple bookkeeping would have been some help to this man. On a larger or smaller scale many people are nearly as foolish as this man was.

INSTALLMENTS

No doubt but what installment buying has been a great boon to the American people. It has helped thousands to have comforts and luxuries they could not otherwise have had. There is only one small but important point to keep in mind when you are about to put your name on the dotted line. Be quite sure you have a fair chance to have the money for the installment at the end of the month.

PAN-AMERICAN CO-OPERATION DISCUSSED
By DR. L. S. ROWE
Director General, Pan-American Union

(Leo S. Rowe was born at McGehee, La., Sept. 17, 1871. He is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and the University of Halle. Admitted to the bar in 1895 he taught political science at the University of Pennsylvania for several years. He has been identified with numerous federal commissions sent to South American and served as assistant secretary of the treasury from 1917 to 1919. He has been director general of the Pan-American union since 1920. He is the author of numerous reports and books on political science subjects, especially pertaining to South American countries.)

The Pan-American Trade Mark conference held recently marks another forward step in the important movement for Pan-American co-operation. An agreement on the protection of trade marks throughout the American continent will mean much to the American commerce and will tend to eliminate the irritation that is aroused from time to time by reason of inadequate protection of such trade marks.

These specialized conferences represent a most important adjunct to the general Pan-American conferences which assemble every five years. To such conferences are delegated the more technical questions which can only be solved through the interchange of opinion of experts.

The adequate protection of trade marks is a matter of deep interest to every consumer throughout the continent. Thousands of persons in the republics of America have suffered real loss by reason of the unauthorized and at times, fraudulent use of well-known and long established trade marks. The whole situation must be viewed primarily from the point of view of the interest of the consumer.

Recommendations or resolutions approved by the conference will be submitted immediately, through the Pan-American Union, to the participating governments for their approval and ratification, and in case of any government not a signatory to the original convention, for its adhesion. Under the tentative draft the convention would be made effective after ratification by seven of the signatory states.

THE PINE

The elm lets fall its leaves before the frost.
The very oak grows shivering and sore,
The trees are barren when the summer's last;
But one tree keeps its goodness all the year.
Green pine, unchanging as the days go by,
Thou art thyself beneath whatever sky:
My shelter from all winds, my own strong pine,
'Tis spring, 'tis summer, still, while thou art mine.

How to Achieve Beauty

BY NINE HELENA RUBINSTEIN

Here are two links for your chain of beauty—the all-important links of diet and health. Consider them well! Good health first. For there can be no lasting beauty without it. And health is just a general term for the state of well being which we all take for granted when we have it. Usually it is only when sickness comes along that most people take time to consider health seriously. If you would be beautiful and healthy, in earnest, you must think about health day by day, observing carefully a few simple rules to preserve it.

To check up on your physical condition have a medical examination at least once a year by a competent physician. Thus you can know whether your important inner organs—lungs, heart, kidneys, etc., are all in good working order, and whether there is any source of poisons existing within the system, such as infected tonsils, decayed teeth, etc.

If an examination says all is well and sound the next thing is simply to stay that way. One point to consider in health—this link in beauty's chain—is diet. For you are what you eat. The food you take in, plus the water you drink and the air you breathe, makes your tissues and cells, all of them, what they are. Eating correctly means a better body and greater beauty, just as simple as that.

Diets of course, must vary to suit the needs of different people. Hard-working men and women need to eat more than the lazy ones. Growing children do, too. And people who wish to reduce built up should have diets especially arranged for them by their doctors. But there are general rules for healthy diet that apply to nearly everyone. One is "do not overeat." Even thin people should not stuff themselves too generously. Bod-

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON.—A "tariff for revenue only" is sound Democratic doctrine. It appears to be Herbert Hoover's doctrine, too—minus the word "only."

Our Republican "infant industries" swear by a "protective tariff," but most of them mean a "prohibitive" one. Mr. Hoover evidently endorses the protective principle, but stops short of prohibition—prohibition in its tariff sense—the alcoholic kind doesn't enter into this discussion.

Maybe all this goes to show that it's hard to tell whether Mr. Hoover is a Republican or a Democrat. It was dangerous to suggest such a thing a few months ago. Now that he's all in most in office, what does it matter?

Anyway, every bit of news from Belle Isle (Fla.) indicates that Mr. Hoover, while no free trader, does not want to keep imports entirely out of the United States.

This being so, an awful row is ahead, between Mr. Hoover and our "infant industries" when congress meets in April to boost the tariff. What our infant industries require may be judged from the demands of the furniture industry, a lusty infant which sells 92½ per cent of all the furniture nusance, left on our hands, for lack of foreign markets.

A globe trotter, Mr. Hoover probably has detected a European tendency toward a tariff limitation against us; likewise, a European trend toward getting into our trade of mass production, which, plus Europe's low wages, may mean nasty competition for us.

A close observer, on his latest trip per chance Mr. Hoover noticed that cotton grows wild in South America; and thought how disagreeable it would be if European spinners were to turn thither in preference to Dixie, as we have done, for cheaper rubber.

Recent scenes in some of our congressional committee rooms in Washington have suggested a resemblance between our tariff-thirsty industries and the parched wait in a desert, who, stumbling on a water hole, often drink himself to death unless somebody stops him.

Apparently Mr. Hoover does not mean to let our industries burst themselves, if he can help it.

He should remember that the desert wait fights like a tiger against interference, however well intended.

MENU HINT
Canned Soup Served with Toasted Bread Strips
Steamed Salmon with Peas
Mashed or Baked Potatoes
Pickles
Olives
Cabbage Salad with Pimento
Peach Tarts
Coffee
I am imagining unexpected company coming for dinner and the meal prepared from the emergency shelf. Of course, you have some fresh supplies, like potatoes and possibly, cabbage. If not, fill in with other things from the pantry shelf. Rice may be used in place of potatoes, and pickled peaches or pears may take the place of the salad. It calls for a well stocked emergency shelf, doesn't it?

Today's Recipes
Toasted Bread Strips—Any stale bread—may be cut into narrow strips and toasted to serve with the soup. A little whipped cream will add considerably to the interest of the soup dish.
Steamed Salmon with Peas—Take the salmon from the can, keeping as whole as possible. Steam it until thoroughly heated through, then pour over it a can of peas which have been heated and seasoned.

Criss-Cross Peach Pie or Tarts—Cut a can of sliced peaches in small pieces, add one-half cup sugar, one-fourth teaspoon cloves, a pinch of salt, two teaspoons lemon juice, and simmer until peaches are quite soft and syrup thick. Beat two egg yolks slightly, add peach mixture slowly, return to fire and cook a few minutes. Pour into a pie tin or individual tart tins lined with pastry, cross with slender, twisted strips of pastry, and bake, having oven hot at first, then moderate.

Beauty Hints for the Housewife

Begin at bedtime to make up your face for the following day by cleaning it thoroughly.

Answers to Mothers

Sex Determination

"Is there any way to determine the sex of a child before birth?" A great many women have told me that a sick pregnancy told signs, while a well one was a sign of a boy. I have two girls, and with both of them I was miserable. I am with child again, and have been feeling fine, so I am hoping very much that I am going to have a boy. Do you believe there is any truth in these signs? "MRS. W."

There is a story told of an old doctor who had a great reputation for foretelling the sex of the unborn child. If the parents wanted a boy, he would tell them very positively that they were going to have a boy. Then he would say, "I am going to put this down in my notebook, so you won't forget that I have foretold this." Then, instead of noting "boy," he would put down "girl." When the baby came, if it was a boy, he would say, "just what I told you!" without referring to his notebook. If it was a girl when the parents would chide him, "Doctor, you promised us a boy," he would say, "Oh, no, I said you'd have a girl. I'll prove it!" Then he'd show his notebook. And, of course, there it was: "To Mr. and Mrs. Blank—a girl."

In predicting the sex of the child by any sign, guesses are right about 50 per cent of the time, naturally, for about the same number of boys are born as girls. All prognostications as to the sex of the unborn child are guesswork. There is nothing in the signs you speak of, Mrs. W. I hope you will have a boy because you want one, and the probability is in your favor, having had two girls before.

The only measure that used to have any semblance of scientific import was that of counting the heart beats of the unborn child. This can be done by a physician with his stethoscope, around the sixth month. It used to be believed that the baby girl's heart was a trifle more rapid than the boy's. But even this has been displayed so many times that it is not now accepted.

We have an article on the diet during pregnancy and nursing, you may have, Mrs. W.

"Is there any reason why milk kept in a sanitary thermos bottle, either cold or warmed, should not be all right to feed a baby?" For instance, taking one or two feedings for the baby on a picnic, of course, in any case using every precaution to see that the milk is sweet and the container clean.

"MRS. J."

The difficulty lies in sterilizing the thermos bottle, Mrs. J. If there happened to be any disease germs present, and warm milk is put into it, the milk would serve as an incubator for the germs. It is probable that if the container is washed out with borax water and rinsed thoroughly with sterilized water, and then the milk boiled and cooled thoroughly before putting it in, it would not have any element of danger. On picnics, or while traveling with the baby, powdered milk or milk powders can be used and mixed as desired, being sure that the water used is boiled.

We have a list of modern books on the general care and feeding of children which you may have.

Tomorrow: Potatoes.

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"Girls never know what worry is until they are married," one of my correspondents writes. That would be hard to convince the lovesick youngsters, who think that they must be married at once or they'll die of a broken heart. It is true, of course, that troubles that you know nothing about when you are single do come after marriage, but it is equally true that joys come with happy marriages that never can be experienced "single blessedness." And I still maintain that the majority of marriages ARE happy, in spite of the divorce courts' records.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am going to pour out my story. Would love to tell you all, but know it would be too long. I am so worried I am nearly crazy. I feel sometimes like committing suicide, but saw what you said about it. Oh, please, answer quick. I am sick and I cannot stand this any longer. I married a man a good many years ago, and he is a salesman. We loved each other dearly, until a few months ago he changed so. He does not want me to come near him. He goes out nearly every night, will not take me along, never takes me to a show, and oh, Mrs. Lee, I can't keep from crying. Why do I have to be so unhappy? He tells me about girls he picks up. He is always making remarks about her. He won't let me go out, even in the evening. I have to sit here in two furnished rooms. I want love, companionship, children and a home. He will not have any children. This is not all, but I will not take any more of your time. Can't you please help me? Girls never know what worry is until they are married. I am only 18. Will watch closely for your answer.

"AN UNHAPPY WIFE."

From your letter I should judge that your husband thinks he has some cause to be jealous of you, and he is trying to make you sorry and jealous. If you have done something to make him feel this way, it is just your fault, in reason. If not, as your letter would indicate, well, your husband is not your jailer. You are a free agent, and can go out if you like. He doesn't lock you in and take the key, does he? Tell him you have done nothing wrong, and are not going to be treated like a criminal. Can't you go home to your people for a time, telling him you will come back when he is willing to treat you right? It would be better for you to get a job. It would take your mind off your worries. Don't sit around and think, so into action, and I hope you will pass—as all such things do, my dear—and you will have your home and babies.

Peter's Adventures

BY FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

SUSPICIOUS MISS PARROT

Miss Parrot gave no sign of coming down to earth. Peter kept on trying to coax her.

"The sun slants down through these branches and shines right in my eyes every time I try to get a good look at your lovely coat. Besides, I am getting a crick in my neck from staring up at you. Pull! My eyes are not in the top of my head, you know, and it is much easier for me to look down than up."

"A very bad plan, I say," remarked Polly, but in much more pleasant tone than she had spoken in yet.

"How can you know what is above you—ready to pounce down upon you out of the sky at any moment if you always keep your eyes upon the ground? However, where you choose to look is your own business, of course, and none of mine. If you really wish me to come down so that you may the better admire my beauty, though, that is another matter."

Peter had made up his mind that he would not say a word to make Polly a bit more vain than she already was, but he could not help an exclamation of surprise as she took her place beside him.

"My, what a gay bird you are!"

"How can you know what is above you? If you always keep your eyes upon the ground!"

"I don't wonder that you are proud of your fine feathers. Are you sure that some Two-Legs didn't catch you once upon a time and paint you in all those bright shades?"

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

WHO IS TO BLAME?

The last wholesale murder by gangsters in Chicago is startling even to the people of the United States, made callous by long familiarity with, and tolerance of bandit feuds and professional assassination rings. But nobody ought to be surprised by what has occurred. Conditions in Chicago and in the country generally have been working toward something of the sort for a long time. The killing on North Clark street was merely a little more atrocious, a little bolder, a little more brazen than scores and hundreds that have preceded it. And unless corrective measures of a character and thoroughness not attempted up to this time are adopted, and adopted thoroughly and in earnest, there are going to be more outrages of the same general character before there are fewer.

Chief of Police Russell of Chicago in the moment of first reaction declared hotly, "This is the end of gangland in Chicago. It is a war to the death now and no quarter asked or given by the police. Every policeman in Chicago will get his orders. We are going to start the greatest fight against crime this or any other city ever has seen."

That is all right, as far as it goes, if Chief Russell really means what he says, and has sense and judgment sufficient to engineer a fight against the bandits and thugs, which will be something more than a haphazard, guerilla campaign, and will produce results where results are really needed.

It is generally admitted that the latest Chicago assassinations were the result of a hijacking feud. Before we can have any real solution of the crime problem in America, some millions of presumably respectable people must stop drinking bootleg liquor. The professional criminal class of the United States is founded on and maintained by the contraband booze traffic. If that traffic should prove unprofitable, the worst single problem before the police unquestionably would evaporate. But as long as it remains a "big business," in which the demand for goods normally exceeds the supply, it is ironical to talk about "controlling" crime. The most the authorities can do is to wage an uphill fight.

FIXING STANDARDS

Standardization of agriculture products, a development of very recent years, is doing much to aid in the profitable marketing of the farmer's goods.

The Department of Agriculture has established a comprehensive set of standards and grades which cover almost every farm product. Not only is this practical in local and national trade, but in international commerce as well.

The farmer, as a result, is benefited by an increased demand for graded products, and by the fact that grading determines which goods are to be stored for future sale and which immediately marketed.

A clerk in Rumania was fined $2 for slapping a prince. One cant slap even a policeman in this country for that price.

Charles C. Dawes put over the debt settlement plan that bears his name, but he wasn't able to reform the senate rules.

After all, how can it be expected that a short session will accomplish much with lame ducks hobbling all the place?

Your BROADWAY
By Walter Winchell And Mine

NEW YORK. — William A. Grew's new comedy, "My Girl Friday," deals with chorus girls and angels who rush in where even fools fear to tread. Mr. Grew also reveals (besides directing, authorizing and acting in it) how business men get tired, and moralizes that All Chivalries Are Not To Be Patted Nor Consored, as someone once remarked. The first audience, one suspected, was recruited from Mr. Lehman's cut rate list, and it appeared quite satisfied after the first episode, responding with robust laughter at intervals.

The comedy, however, is crude and shallow entertainment, prepared with little skill. The feminine division was most agreeable, both in the orb and ear respects, and little wonder, for the chorus girl types were selected from the better professionals, and with little effort they contributed artful performances.

A FORM OF COMEDY. They say that when Captain Fried attended the premiere of a new show recently he quipped: "God help us sailors on a first-night like this!"

An actress of little ability was burned up and knocked cold because a dramatic critic wrote of her that she had no sex appeal.

"I haven't?" she telegraphed him. "Well, come up some time and I'll prove that I have."

"No, thanks," replied the playwright. "I have given up sex and come in for dramatic criticism."

WHAT ARE YOU WORTH?

It is not easy to determine the value of a man. Perhaps it is best to say that we are worth as much as we put into a "going concern"—as much spirit and sympathy and service.

KEEPING BOOKS

Few men or women have a definite gift for figures, for financial accounts, for keeping books. Anyone can learn something about operating his own financial affairs competently. There is a satisfaction to be found in knowing where your income goes and why. It is worth while to keep books at least to the extent that you can determine whether you are actually spending more money than you take in. Many do that very thing. The writer knew of a man who was making sixty dollars a week and had signed agreements to buy so many things on the installment plan that he required seventy-two dollars a week for the outlay. A little simple bookkeeping would have been some help to this man. On a larger or smaller scale many people are nearly as foolish as this man was.

INSTALLMENTS

No doubt, but what installment buying has been a great boon to the American people. It has helped thousands to have comforts and luxuries they could not otherwise have had. There is only one small but important point to keep in mind when you are about to put your name on the dotted line. Be quite sure you have a fair chance to have the money for the installment at the end of the month.

PAN-AMERICAN CO-OPERATION DISCUSSED
By DR. L. S. ROWE
Director General, Pan-American Union

(Leo S. Rowe was born at McGregor, Ia., Sept. 17, 1871. He is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and the University of Halle. Admitted to the bar in 1895 he taught political science at the University of Pennsylvania for several years. He has been identified with numerous federal commissions sent to South American countries and served as assistant secretary of the treasury from 1917 to 1919. He has been director general of the Pan-American union since 1920. He is the author of numerous works and books on political science subjects, especially pertaining to South American countries.)

The Pan-American Trade Mark conference held recently marks another forward step in the important movement for Pan-American co-operation. An agreement on the protection of trade marks throughout the American continent will mean much to inter-American commerce and will tend to eliminate the irritation that is aroused from time to time by reason of inadequate protection of such trade marks.

These specialized conferences represent a most important adjunct to the general Pan-American conferences which assemble every five years. To such conferences are delegated the more technical questions which can only be solved through the interchange of opinion of experts.

The adequate protection of trade marks is a matter of deep interest to every consumer throughout the continent. Thousands of persons in the republics of America have suffered real loss by reasons of the unauthorized and at times, fraudulent use of well-known and long established trade marks. The whole situation must be viewed primarily from the point of view of the interest of the consumer.

Recommendations or resolutions approved, by the conference will be submitted immediately, through the Pan-American Union, to the participating governments for their approval and ratification, and in case of any government not a signatory to the original convention, for its adoption. Under the tentative draft the convention would become effective after ratification by seven of the signatory states.

How to Achieve Beauty

BY MRS. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

Here are two links for your chain of beauty—the all-important links of diet and health. Consider them well! Good health first. For there can be no lasting beauty without it. And health is just a general term for the state of well being which we all take for granted when we have it. Usually it is only when sickness comes along that most people take time to consider health seriously. If you would be beautiful and healthy, in earnest, you must think about health day by day, observing carefully a few simple rules to preserve it.

To check up on your physical condition have a medical examination at least once a year by a competent physician. Thus you can know whether your important inner organs—lungs, heart, kidneys, etc., are all in good working order, and whether there is any source of poisons existing within the system, such as infected tonsils, decayed teeth, etc.

If an examination says all is well and sound the next thing is simply to stay that way. One point to consider in health is diet. For you are what you eat. The food you take in, plus the water you drink and the air you breathe, makes your tissues and cells, all of them, what they are. Eating correctly means a better body and greater beauty, just as simple as that.

Diets of course, must vary to suit the needs of different people. Hard-working men and women need to eat more than the lazy ones. Growing children do. And people who wish to reduce their weight should have diets especially arranged for them by their doctors. But there are general rules for healthy diet that apply to nearly everyone. One is "do not overeat." Even thin people should not stuff themselves too generously. Bodies burdened with food can neither assimilate needed nourishment nor throw off the extra poisons that the food generates. Over-eating defeats the purpose of eating, entirely, especially when the system is tired. Better for the thin person or the hungry one eat often and lightly and assimilate what she does eat, well. And eat regularly. Try to eat your meals at approximately the same time each day. The body gets used to routine and dislikes to be disturbed by irregularity.

And now what kind of food shall you eat? Strange as it may seem, you have to worry less about this than about the other considerations of diet. For normally people like a balanced diet and for the normal person a balanced diet is best. Of course the balance should be a consideration whenever meals are being planned.

Roughly, you should eat from 10 to 15 per cent in proteins, 25 to 30 per cent in fats, and the rest in carbohydrates, 60 to 65 per cent. Proteins are in meats, fish, eggs, cheese and nuts. Fats are in butter, cream, milk, oils and chocolates. Carbohydrates in sugar, starch and vegetable fiber. Two other important classes of food materials are the mineral salts and the vitamins. These exist, especially, in the rough outer coatings of grains and vegetables and in fruits and in milk.

If it seems too difficult to figure out the percentage of each type of food for your diet, remember this. Eat proteins sparingly, substitute the other proteins for meat frequently. Eat plenty of fruits and vegetables, especially the nice, fresh, green ones. Avoid white bread and substitute for it dark breads of all kinds and corn or bran muffins. And drink plenty of milk. It is a complete food.

WASHINGTON.—A "tariff for revenue only" is sound Democratic doctrine. It appears to be Herbert Hoover's doctrine, too—minus the word "only."

Our Republican "infant industries" swear by a "protective tariff," but most of them mean a "prohibitive" one. Mr. Hoover evidently indorses the protective principle, but stops short of prohibition—in its tariff sense—the alcoholic kind doesn't enter into this discussion. Maybe all this goes to show that it's hard to tell whether Mr. Hoover is a Republican or a Democrat. It was dangerous to suggest such a thing a few months ago. Now that he's almost in office, what does it matter?

Anyway, every bit of news from Belle Isle (Fla.) indicates that Mr. Hoover, while no free trader, does not want to keep imports entirely out of the United States.

nuisance, left on our hands, for lack of foreign markets.

A globe trotter, Mr. Hoover probably has detected a European tendency toward a tariff combination against us. Likewise, a European trend toward getting into our trap of mass production, which, plus Europe's low wages, may mean nasty competition for us.

A close observer, on his latest trip perchance Mr. Hoover noticed that cotton grows wild in South America; and thought how disagreeable it would be if European spinners were to turn thither in preference to Dixie, as we have done, for cheaper rubber.

Recent scenes in some of our congressional committee rooms in Washington have suggested a resemblance between our tariff-thirsty industries and the parched wail in a desert, who, stumbling on a water hole, often drinks himself to death unless somebody stops him.

Apparently Mr. Hoover does not mean to let our industries burst themselves, if he can help it. He should remember that the desert wail fights like a tiger against interference, however well intended.

Canned Soup Served with Toasted Bread Strips
Steamed Salmon with Peas
Mashed or Baked Potatoes
Pickles
Olives
Cabbage Salad with Pimento
Peach Tarts
Coffee

I am imagining unexpected company coming for dinner and the meal prepared from the emergency shelf. Of course you have some fresh supplies, like potatoes and possibly, cabbage. If not, fill in with other things from the pantry shelf. Rice may be used in place of potatoes, and pickled peaches or pears may take the place of the salad. It calls for a well stocked emergency shelf, doesn't it?

Today's Recipes
Toasted Bread Strips — Any stale bread—or fresh either, for that matter—may be cut into narrow strips and toasted to serve with the soup. A little whipped cream will add considerably to the interest of the soup dish.

Steamed Salmon with Peas — Take the salmon from the can, keeping as whole as possible. Steam it until thoroughly heated through, then pour over it a can of peas which have been heated and seasoned.

Criss-Cross Peach Pie or Tarts — Cut a can of sliced peaches in small pieces, add one-half cup sugar, one-fourth teaspoon cloves, few grains salt, two teaspoons lemon juice, and simmer until peaches are quite soft and syrup thick. Beat two egg yolks slightly, add peach mixture slowly, return to fire and cook a few minutes. Pour into a pie tin or individual tart tins lined with pastry, cross with slender, twisted strips of pastry, and bake, having oven hot at first, then moderate.

Diet and Health

BY LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D., AUTHOR OF "DIET AND HEALTH" AND "DIET FOR CHILDREN"

Answers to Mothers

Is there any way to determine the sex of a child before birth? A great many women have told me that a sick pregnancy is a sign of a girl, while a well one is a sign of a boy. I have two girls, and with both of them I was miserable. I am with child again, and have been feeling fine, so I am hoping very much that I am going to have a boy. Do you believe there is any truth in these signs? "MRS. W."

There is a story told of an old doctor who had a great reputation for foretelling the sex of the unborn child. If the parents wanted a boy, he would tell them very positively that they were going to have a boy. Then he would say, "I am going to put this down in my notebook, so you won't forget that I have foretold this." Then, instead of noting "boy," he would put down "girl." When the baby came, if it was a boy, he would say, "Just what I told you!" without referring to his notebook. If it was a girl when the parents would chide him, "Doctor, you promised us a boy," he would say, "Oh, no, I said you'd have a girl. I'll prove it!" Then he'd show his notebook. And, of course, there it was: "To Mr. and Mrs. Blank—a girl."

In predicting the sex of the child by any sign, guesses are right about 50 per cent of the time, naturally, for about the same number of boys are born as girls. All prognostications as to the sex of the unborn child are guesswork. There is nothing in the signs you speak of, Mrs. W. I hope you will have a boy because you want one, and the probability is in your favor, having had two girls before.

The only measure that used to have any semblance of scientific import was that of counting the heart beats of the unborn child. This can be done by a physician with his stethoscope, around the sixth month. It used to be believed that the baby girl's heart was a trifle more rapid than the boy's. But even this has been disproved so many times that it is not now accepted.

We have an article on the diet during pregnancy and nursing, you may have, Mrs. W.

"Is there any reason why milk kept in a sanitary thermos bottle either cold or warmed, should not be all right to feed to a baby? For instance, taking one or two feedings for the baby on a picnic, of course, in any case using every precaution to see that the milk is sweet and the container clean." "MRS. J."

The difficulty lies in sterilizing the thermos bottle, Mrs. J. If there happened to be any disease germs present, and warm milk is put into it, the milk would serve as an incubator for the germs. It is probable that if the container is washed out with borax water and rinsed thoroughly with sterilized water, and then the milk boiled and cooled thoroughly before putting it in, it would not have any element of danger. On picnics, or while traveling with the baby, powdered milk or milk powders can be used and mixed as desired, being sure that the water used is boiled.

We have a list of modern books on the general care and feeding of children which you may have.

Tomorrow: Potatoes.

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"Girls never know what worry is until they are married," one of my correspondents writes. That would be hard to convince the loveliest youngsters, who think that they must be married at once or they'll die of a broken heart. It is true, of course, that troubles that you know nothing about when you are single do come after marriage, but it is equally true that joys come with happy marriages that never can be experienced in "single blessedness." And I still maintain that the majority of marriages ARE happy, in spite of the divorce courts' records.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am going to pour out my story. Would love to tell you all, but know it would be too long. I am so worried I am nearly crazy. I feel sometimes like committing suicide, but saw what you said about it. Oh, please, answer quick. I am sick and I cannot stand this any longer. I married a man a good many years my senior. He is a salesman. We loved each other dearly, until a few months ago he changed so. He does not want me to come near him. I am not nearly every right, will not take me alone, never takes me to a show, and oh, Mrs. Lee, I can't keep from crying. Why do I have to be so unhappy? He tells me about girls he picks up. He is always making remarks about them. He won't let me go out, even in the daytime. I have to sit here in two furnished rooms. I want love, companionship, children and a home. He will not have any children. This is not all, but I will not take any more of your time. Can't you please help me?" Girls never know what worry is until they are married. I am only 18. Will watch closely for your answer.

"AN UNHAPPY WIFE. From your letter I should judge that your husband thinks he has some cause to be jealous of you, and he is trying to make you sorry and jealous. If you have done something to make him feel this way, it is just you should atone, in reason. If not, as your letter would indicate, well, your husband is not your jailer. You are a free agent, and can go out if you like. He doesn't lock you in and take the key, does he? Tell him you have done nothing wrong, and are not going to be treated like a criminal. Can't you go home to your people for a time, telling him you will come back when he is willing to treat you right? It would be better for you to get a job. It would 'take your mind off your worries. Don't sit around and think, go into action, and I hope this worry will pass—as all such things do, my dear—and you will have your home and babies.

Peter's Adventures

BY MRS. FLORENCE VINCENT

SUSPICIOUS MISS PARROT

Miss Parrot gave no sign of coming down to earth. Peter kept on trying to coax her.

"The sun slants down through these branches and shines right in my eyes every time I try to get a good look at your lovely coat. Besides, I am getting a crick in my neck from staring at you, Pol! My eyes are not in the top of my head, you know, and it is much easier for me to look down than up."

"A very bad plan, I say," remarked Pol, but in a much more pleasant tone than she had spoken in yet.

"How can you know what is above you—ready to pounce down upon you out of the sky at any moment if you always keep your eyes upon the ground? However, where you choose to look is your own business, of course, boy, and mine of mine. If you really wish me to come down so that you may the better admire my beauty, though, that is another matter."

"Quite sure you are not going to try any tricks that might keep me away from the sycamore tree? It doesn't do to tease any one any more—not even your own shadow. I saw mine the other night and it was big and black—didn't look a bit like me. I was afraid of it and put my head under my wing in a hurry!"

"Quite sure I'm not going to try any tricks, my dear Polly," declared the boy. "My, you are the most suspicious bird I ever met in all my life. Come on now, trust a fellow, do!" Peter laughed and beckoned to the bird.

"Wouldn't you like to hear how my Polly takes her nap. And maybe you'll not believe me when I tell you she not only understands but can talk the Two-Legs language."

"Absurd! Ridiculous! Don't believe it! How can she? What does she say? Could I learn?"

Chattering so fast that the boy could scarcely make out what she was saying, Polly, interested at last, flew out of the tree and down to the ground beside the boy.

Peter had made up his mind that he would not say a word to make Polly a bit more vain than she already was, but he could not help an exclamation of surprise as she took her place beside him.

"My, what a gay bird you are!"

"HOW CAN YOU KNOW WHAT IS ABOVE YOU, IF YOU ALWAYS KEEP YOUR EYES UPON THE GROUND?"

I don't wonder that you are proud of your fine feathers. Are you sure that those Two-Legs didn't catch you once upon a time and paint you in all those bright shades?"

MANY VISIT EAGLES GYM WEDNESDAY TO SEE FIRST PROGRAM

A crowd variously estimated at from 150 to 200 people jammed their way into the gymnasium of Xenia Aerie, No. 1689, Fraternal Order of Eagles on N. Whiteman St., to witness exhibition boxing and wrestling matches Wednesday night.

The occasion was the formal opening of the gym to the Xenia Athletic Club, which will be composed of business and working men's classes and the athletic committee of Xenia Aerie held "open house" to the public.

The Eagle gymnasium is said to be one of the most completely equipped gyms in this part of the state and several out-of-town boxers have been taking advantage of the up-to-date facilities it presents to train there for bouts in Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia.

Several boxers, including a few local boys, exhibited their wares to the crowd in exhibition matches. Included in this number was "K. O." Jenkins, London, O., a promising welterweight, Calvin Brown and a number of others. Two local boys also put on a one-fall wrestling match.

PIQUA BARS PATH TO CENTRAL IN LEAGUE RACE

PIQUA HIGH TEAM

The 1929 basketball championship of the Miami Valley League hinges on the outcome of the final game between Xenia, defending champion, and Piqua, at Bennett gymnasium at Piqua Thursday night at 8:15 o'clock.

Both teams are undefeated in four straight games and have been sharing leadership of the league since the start of the season. Thursday night's game will therefore tell the tale.

Piqua is still pretty much of an underdog in the league despite its four league victories, but a thrilling struggle between the two quintets is expected.

Officials for the game will be Harvey Schwab of Dayton and E. J. Bowness of Lima.

Piqua will probably line up with Neth and C. Blackie at forwards; Sargeant at center, and Hilbert and Yount at guards.

Middle Row—Proctor, guard; Ramsey, guard; McClannan, forward; R. Blackie, guard; Neth, forward; C. Blackie, forward.

MANY VISIT EAGLES GYM WEDNESDAY TO SEE FIRST PROGRAM

A crowd variously estimated at from 150 to 200 people jammed their way into the gymnasium of Xenia Aerie, No. 1689, Fraternal Order of Eagles on N. Whitcomb st., to witness exhibition boxing and wrestling matches Wednesday night.

The occasion was the formal opening of the gym to the Eagle Athletic Club, which will be composed of business and working men's classes, and the athletic committee of Xenia Aerie held "open house" to the public.

The Eagle gymnasium is said to be one of the most completely equipped gyms in this part of the state and several out-of-town boxers have been taking advantage of the up-to-date facilities it presents to train there for bouts in Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia.

YELLOW SPRINGS TEAM IS DEFEATED

The Springfield Waldorf Cafe basketball team annexed another victory at the Bryan High School gymnasium in Yellow Springs by routing the Yellow Springs Independents by a score of 54 to 30 Wednesday night. The score at the half stood 16 to 9 in favor of the visiting team, which easily maintained its lead in the closing chapter. Eric was high-scoring of the game counting nine baskets and three free throws for twenty-one points.

HOUSE DAMAGED BY FLAMES THURSDAY

Damage estimated at approximately $75 was caused by fire in the kitchen at the home of O. W. Overhart, 269 Chestnut st., at 9:45 a. m. Thursday. The property is owned by S. H. Deacon, S. Detroit st.

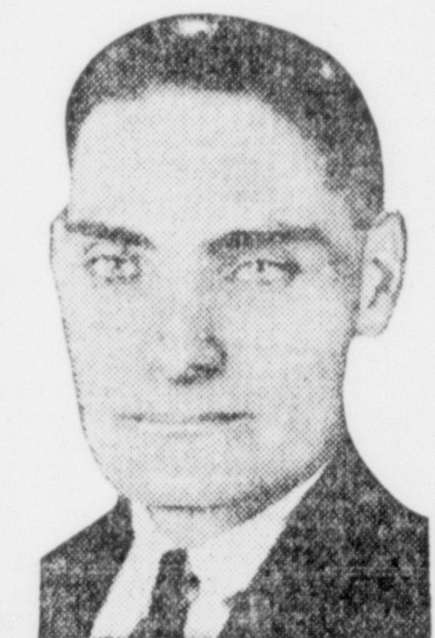

The family was away from home when the blaze occurred and firemen, who extinguished the flames with chemicals, attributed the fire to an overheated stove. The blaze was confined to the kitchen but the interior of the room was badly damaged.

The alarm was the twelfth answered by the fire department this year.

MAN GAINED 33 POUNDS; PRAISES MODERN KONJOLA

Konjola Scores Quick And Complete Victory In Stubborn Case For Ohio Resident

"Despite the many splendid endorsements of Konjola, I certainly was not prepared for the huge surprise it gave me by restoring my health after years of suffering," said Mr. Albert Dilley, P. O. Box 42, Washington Court House, Ohio. "For ten years I was the victim of a most distressing and stubborn case of indigestion. Once I was unable to work for three weeks and two days. When I did work it was under great disadvantage and with pain, for I was really too weak to be on the job. I became greatly discouraged, for when one has hunted for relief for ten years and found none, there seemed to be little hope of ever being better."

"In the four months following my use of Konjola, I gained thirty-three pounds. I have not missed a day's work since I started the treatment, and by the time I finished four bottles, my indigestion was absolutely restored. I want to tell of this splendid success of Konjola so that others will know there is such a remedy within their reach. To me Konjola is a priceless medicine."

Konjola is different from any other known remedy in this section. It contains 22 juices extracted from natural plants, which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels to a more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that has been going on for years. At the same time, many weak and rundown systems have been restored to a new state of health by this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product, that now, Konjola is the most highly indexed medicine that is known in this vicinity.

Konjola is sold in Xenia at the Gallaher Drug Store, and by all the best druggists throughout this entire section. —Adv.

PIQUA BARS PATH TO CENTRAL IN LEAGUE RACE

PIQUA HIGH TEAM

The 1929 basketball championship of the Miami Valley League hinges on the outcome of the final game between Xenia, defending champion, and Piqua, at Bennet gymnasium at Piqua Thursday night at 8:15 o'clock.

Both teams are undefeated in four straight games and have been sharing leadership of the league since the start of the season. Thursday night's game will therefore tell the tale.

Piqua is still pretty much of an underdog in the league despite its four league victories, but a thrilling struggle between the two quintets desperately fighting for the title seems assured.

Officials for the game will be Harvey Schwab of Dayton and E. J. Bowenshine of Lima.

Piqua will probably line up with Neth and C. Blackie at forwards; Sargent at center, and Hilbert and Yount at guards.

Middle Row—Drew, guard; Ramsey, guard; McClannan, forward; R. Blackie, guard; Neth, forward; C. Blackie, forward.

Do you enjoy your food?

If it is a true sign that you are losing your appetite. And when your appetite is "gone" it means you haven't the resistance to ward off diseases. Loss of appetite is only a symptom. General weakness pervades the entire body. There is no desire to work or play.

Rich, red, blood builds and sustains

Your physician will tell you that lowered vitality is the result of an insufficient supply of red blood cells—those vitalizing elements in the blood that build and sustain the body.

Without plenty of rich, red blood, there can be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or beautiful, healthy women.

When you get your blood cells back up to normal, that sluggish, let-down feeling, loss of appetite, rheumatism, boils, pimples, and skin troubles disappear. You get hungry again; sleep soundly; solid flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby. You feel strong; and your nerves become steady.

MRS. FLATTER OFFERS BILL

Revealed As Author Of Measure To Prevent Teachers Smoking Cigarettes

Mrs. Carrie H. Flatter, Yellow Springs, president of the Greene County W. C. T. U., is revealed as the real parent of a bill introduced into the Ohio General Assembly by Representative C. C. Runser, Hardin County, which would make it unlawful for women school teachers of Ohio to smoke.

Mrs. Flatter, registered in Columbus as a lobbyist for the Anti-Cigarette Alliance, gave the bill to Runser and asked that he introduce it, she said.

Women's clubs, P. T. A. organizations, the W. C. T. U. and the department of education are highly in favor of the proposed bill, according to Mrs. Flatter.

Although Mrs. Flatter is optimistic that the bill will be passed by the legislature, Runser is said to be not so hopeful, although he will endeavor to get a favorable committee hearing on it. He doesn't believe, he says, that teachers who smoke set a good example for children, and explains that is the reason he consented to introduce the measure.

KEEP YOUR APPETITE YOUNG

If the things you used to like disagree with you, take a tablet of Pape's Diapiesin after a meal. It displaces the excess acid in the stomach, sweetens your food, and digests it. The nourishment from it produces good healthy tissue and blood; you gain weight and strength, and with that comes a healthy, youthful color.

Thousands of people who suffered from stomach trouble for years, praise Pape's Diapiesin for their good health and your appetite. They can now eat anything they want. That's why 5 million packages are used a year.

Runser admits that he is by no means sure the bill will pass but declares he "is not all worked up about it," but the principle, in his opinion, is sound.

"I suppose women have as much right to use cigarettes as men have," he declared, "but I believe most people do think it's worse for a woman to use them than it is for a man. That's probably because we are less accustomed to seeing them do so."

Mrs. Flatter argues in favor of the bill in this way. "The law demands the teaching in the schools of the effect of alcohol and all narcotics, which includes cigarettes. How can a teacher so instruct pupils when she uses it herself and is consequently not in sympathy with it?"

She admits that few women school teachers smoke cigarettes but declares "we prefer to have those teachers not using it. We want the children to know the effects of narcotics first and then let them choose for themselves whether they desire to smoke cigarettes. We feel that when a child fully understands that smoking cigarettes is not good for a person, he will not use them."

Mrs. Flatter believes the bill has a fair chance of passing the house and a good chance of being approved by the senate, providing the measure is not held up in committee for some unintentional reason until too late to be considered by the legislature.

Passed Up!

By ROE FULKERSON

READ THIS FIRST:
Betty Brown, unattractive to men, takes up dancing to increase her physical charm. Andy Adair, Harry Ford and other men seek her society, although some of their attentions are not the kind she desires. Her father dies and her high school friend, George Harris, a slow, stolid boy, sees her through the funeral. A sharper swindles her mother out of her life insurance money and she dies broken hearted, leaving Betty alone in the world with only a hundred dollars and no ability to earn her living save by dancing. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIX
The first evening in her new room Betty was lonely, indeed. She went to a cafe-aria for her dinner, then back to her room. She was about to throw herself on the bed to cry when the woman who ran the rooming house called up the stairs: "Mr. Harris is here to see you, Miss Brown."

Betty went gladly down to meet George in the dingy rooming house parlor.

"I thought you might be lonely and want to go to a moving picture," he said in his slow voice.

"I don't think I care for a picture," replied Betty, "but I would like to talk to you, George, for I am very lonely. But let's not sit here. This place is gloomy. Let's go sit in the park."

On a park bench George went at once to the point.

"What are you going to do for a living?"

"I don't know anything but dancing. I shall have to do that."

"Where?"

"A lot of entertainments use paid talent. I know the address of a man who hires it: Jack Parker. Several of the girls at dancing school told me that he had given them jobs at stag dinners and the like."

"I am very much opposed to that," George announced. "No good can come of going to places like that! You will get into bad company and you are too nice a girl to mix up with the kind of people who go to such places!"

"George, you have a wrong idea of dancing girls," protested Betty. "The girls at Selkoff's were just as nice as the girls we knew at high school. A nice girl is a nice girl, whether she dances in public or not."

"I am not criticizing the girls. I say a steady association in that work and environment means a steady lowering of your standards and ideals."

"Regardless of standards and ideals, one must eat!"

"I will finance you for the time being if you will seek some more lady-like employment."

"You are kind, George, but I could not take money from you. That would be much less ladylike than dancing."

"Oh, disapprove!" George repeated, emphatically.

"Oh, George, please don't take that attitude! You have been so good to me these last few months that I am sorry to displease you; but I must make my own way in my own way."

"Of course I have no right to dictate. You must pay the fiddler if you dance. I am sorry. I guess we better say good night. He rose as he spoke."

"I'm sorry, George. I will never forget what you have done for me."

Betty went home and cried herself to sleep, feeling she had lost not only her parents but her best friend, Doc, Andy and Harry had stayed with her from her in her trouble, although they came to her father's funeral.

George was the only one who had stood by in her distress, and now she had lost him. But if she did not break with George on dancing, she would slowly drift into marriage with him, a thought she could not entertain.

Betty was without any relatives. Even in her grief she took pleasure in her absolute freedom. She felt that if allowed her own way she could make a name for herself dancing. Certainly no one was ever more free to work out her own destiny.

Early the next morning she went to Jack Parker's theatrical agency. Parker was a customer who supplied everything for private theatricals and fancy dress balls. Betty was met by a frowzy blonde woman.

"I want to see Mr. Parker about some dancing engagements," explained Betty.

"That's what they all say," answered the girl, her jaws working on chewing gum till she resembled some ruminating animal. "There are more would-be dancers in this town than there are traffic cops!"

"I am a pupil of Selkoff's," Betty went on.

"Oh, that! I suppose you run around barefooted and give visualizations of a nymph in a meadow feeding a daffodil to a yearling calf. There is no demand for that stuff."

"I can do acrobatic and buck."

"Lemme see your legs!" demanded a voice behind her. Betty turned to meet an over-dressed, slender man with a sharp face, a cigarette pendant from his lips. Her look made him add, "I am

Parker interrupted her. "Let's see you dance." The piano player thumbed the music and began to play while the girl began a Charleston. "The Charleston is out and the Black Bottom, too," cut in Parker.

"Those are all I can do!" said the girl.

"Better go back to your job, waiting on table."

"Now, Pavyola!" He turned to Betty with a flippant smile.

Betty was more frightened than she had ever been before an audience. But her excitement did no harm to her dancing. She did her acrobatic number, her jazz dance and her waltz clog without comment from either of the two men.

"Sing!" Parker asked.

"Not well. I can sing a few simple songs."

"Sing one." She walked to the piano and sang a verse and chorus of a popular song. "Not so hot," said Parker, "but you could learn."

"Leave your name and address with the girl downstairs. I can get you a few engagements if you have some costumes. They must be snappy. It's legs they want, remember, girls. Tell Maggie that I will put you on the program at that affair Thursday night. She'll tell you about it. Fifteen bucks you get."

Betty left the room elated. Two engagements a week at fifteen dollars each would keep her going till she could get more permanent work. She decided that she would try a large moving picture house which kept a regular chorus in addition to the visiting solo dancers and singers who stayed a week only.

She felt she had done Parker an injustice. His brusque and familiar manner was merely the professional way! She was to learn differently, however.

Miss MacCracken conducted a private school here about forty years ago. She was a member of the Woman's Club, this city, the first club for women established in this county, and never ceased her activities in it, attending the last meeting a week ago and assisting in the program.

Miss MacCracken was a member of the W. C. T. U., and took an active interest in work of the Social Service League and other civic affairs.

She is survived by several nieces and nephews. A nephew George MacCracken of Akron is expected to reach Xenia Thursday afternoon, and a niece, Mrs. Mary Jones, Washington, D. C., is on her way here. Their arrival will be awaited for the making of funeral plans. Another niece, Miss Laura MacCracken of Urbana is spending the winter in Miami, Fla., and will be prevented by illness from coming to Xenia. There are also two nieces the Misses Brooks in Springfield, Ill.

The Theater

The fact that Adolphe Menjou, sleek cosmopolitan of the silver screen will appear with his wife, Kathryn Carver, in "His Private Life," at the Bijou Theater Thursday night, recalls the fact that few such family acts are attempted in the movies.

The husband and wife team, or the sister or brother teams, are common on the legitimate stage, especially in vaudeville, although the relationship is usually disguised by stage names. There is still a tradition among players that they lose some of their appeal to the public if it is widely known that they are married.

stage play by Sir James M. Barrie, one of the best talkies ever produced. She has acted Barrie on the legitimate. H. B. Warner and Robert Edeson also contribute much to the cast.

Eddie Cantor is on the same bill in New York with a talkie-single called "That Certain Party," and is proving popular with movie audiences. Eddie has been picked to star in a new movie musical to be known as "The Ziegfeld Midnight Frolic." The case will include 109 performers, mostly chorus girls.

"I recommend a Lucky in place of a sweet. Toasting has taken out every bit of harshness in the Lucky Strike tobacco. All that remains is the splendid Lucky flavor—an excellent substitute when your appetite craves a sweet but your figure must be considered."

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true during 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This surely confirms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

STOMACH TROUBLE 4 YEARS; KIDNEY MISERY 16 YEARS

Ohio Resident Gains Glorious Health From 3 Bottles Of New Konjola; Praises It To All Sufferers

"After years of suffering I have been restored to health through the use of Konjola, the new medicine, and I heartily recommend it to all sufferers," said Mrs. David Cupp, R. F. D. No. 8, Lancaster, Ohio.

MRS. DAVID CUPP

"Four years of stomach trouble and sixteen years of kidney trouble had made life almost unbearable. After each meal quantities of gas formed, making my heart palpitate wildly and affecting my nervous system. My back was sore and filled with pain. Night rising broke up my sleep. I became more rundown with each passing day and was at a loss to know what to do for myself.

"I had been reading so much about the merits of Konjola that I decided to give it a trial. It turned out to be exactly what I needed and went right to the source of my ailments—strengthening my organs. Three bottles of this medicine did the work. Today my stomach and kidneys are functioning perfectly. It is a wonderful thing to have my health back again. I know now why Konjola is called the master medicine."

Konjola is different from any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two juices extracted from natural plants, which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels to a more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that has been going on for years. At the same time, many weak and rundown systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product, until now, Konjola is the most highly endorsed medicine that is known in this vicinity. Konjola is sold in Xenia at the Gallaher drug store and by all the best druggists throughout this entire section.

After all Isn't this the real test of motor oil?

There is no simple way to check the quality of motor oil. Not color . . . Not the way it feels between the fingers . . . Not even price . . . And not mileage between crankcase changes.

Oil must have four characteristics, engineers say, if lubrication is to be both complete and correct.

Thousands of automobile owners have found one oil—Shell Motor Oil—which meets the requirements in every way.

Regular users of Shell Motor Oil report a marked reduction in carbon removal jobs. They enjoy amazing freedom from power losses due to carbon accumulations. That's because Shell has an extremely low carbon content—20 to 33 per cent less than a number of other popular and nationally known oils.

And the small amount of carbon which forms in a motor lubricated by Shell is soft, fluffy and non-fouling. It does not bake on metal surfaces. Instead, it blows out with the exhaust gases.

Shell Motor Oil has body and stamina. It won't break down. It provides the same protection at sixty miles an hour as at twenty. And to body, Shell adds a low pour point for easy starting and immediate lubrication in cold weather.

Shell Motor Oil is today's outstanding development in the science of automobile lubrication. Shell crude comes from handpicked wells. Refined by the new and exclusive Shell-developed, low-temperature process. Never scorched, never weakened in refining. And tested 259 times to check and certify the rich, unvarying quality of every quart.

That quality is adding countless extra miles to thousands of cars like yours . . . and has made Shell one of the best-selling oils in America.

STOP AT THE SIGN OF THE SHELL—and let the Shell Lubrication Chart be your guide . . . You will find courteous attendants at the familiar yellow and red Service Stations . . . Convenient everywhere.

SHELL MOTOR OIL

has the 4 essentials of complete and proper lubrication

1. Low Carbon Content
2. Non-fouling Carbon
3. Ideal body at all Operating Temperatures
4. Low Pour Point

Check your present oil for these four characteristics. Every oil, of course, has one of them. A few rate high on two or even three. But only Shell Motor Oil combines them all.

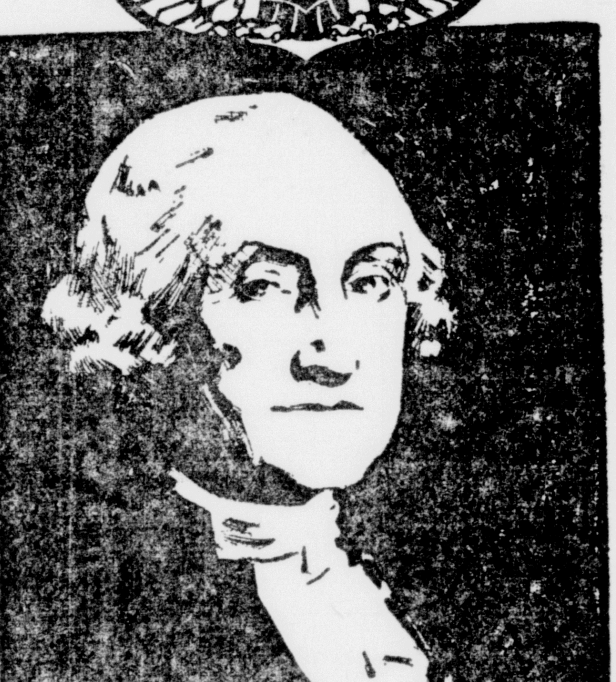

To the man who thinks all motor oils are alike—we say, "Try Shell—for 30 days!"

One complete crankcase change will be enough to show you that there is a difference in motor oils. Put Shell Motor Oil over the road in the hardest kind of service. Shell speaks with performance . . . thrives on comparisons.

400 "Extra Dry" Shell Gasoline starts quickly, burns completely and delivers full power because it's a "dry" motor fuel. Ought to cost more, but it doesn't.
